Subject: Rhodes State College - Coronavirus (COVID-19) Update

Importance: High

Rhodes State College has been closely monitoring the coronavirus outbreak (COVID-19) and providing updates as the situation evolves. College personnel have been in consultation with the Governor, Chancellor and senior leadership and are focused on our College's preparations and response. We continue to align our recommendations with and follow guidelines from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, and other city and state agencies. Please note:

- For your CCP students who are enrolled in classes at the high school, there is no change in their schedule or instructional method.
- For your CCP students who are taking courses online, there is no change in their schedule or instructional methods.
- For your CCP students who travel to the Rhodes State campus, effective Wednesday, March 11, 2020 the campus will be closed to all students . Face-to-face classes and labs will be cancelled until Monday, March 16 at which time classes will resume in an online format only (through CANVAS). There will be no face-to-face classes or labs. All clinical and all online classes will continue as scheduled. Remote learning will continue until April 3, 2020. However, this date could be extended.

Emails and text messages have been sent to all students; however, you may be getting questions as well. I will attempt to keep you updated with the status at Rhodes as the circumstances change. As you know, the situation is evolving daily and we are doing our best to keep our student, employees, and community safe.

Please let me know if you have any questions or if you need additional information.
